Out in Indiana, where the political canvass is at white heat, the grave yards are being searched for material wherewith to wage the campaign. Some democrat, it appears, after hunting among grave stones, discovered that the last restingplace of the father of Mr. Porter, republican candidate for governor, was not kept in good order. Forthwith the party organs called upon the people of the state to condema, at the polis, a man who would not put up a stone to mark the grave of his father. The republicans had to offset this, and the burying places of the democratic leaders were ransacked. It was discovered that though the grave of Mr. English's father was in pretty good order, there was no stone erected at the spot. Just as the republicans had begun to utilize the discovery, it was shown that English had ordered a $10,600 monument of Italian stone, in memory of his deceased father, and that the work is being done in Europe. Now both parties are grubbing in the grave yards for more material of the same sort. They had better be devoting their attention to AT TWENTY DOLLARS EACH, WORTH $30 the living, who do the voting. It's bad enough to subject the candidate for office to continued abuse and villification, which has now become the custom. The dead ancestors of a candidate. even, ought to be permitted to rest in quiet, whether any marble shafts mark the spot or

Mr. Nimmo, chief of the Bureau of Statistics, makes a report upon the proposed Inter-oceanic Canal, in which his bristling facts and figures all go to show that the canal will not pay. His estimates are based, however, upon the present condition of commerce, and the canal men say that an argument based on present traffic and production is fallacious, and that speedier communications between countries and more intimate commercial and social relations will greatly stimulate production and increase ocean

Oddly enough, the Tammany and anti-Tammany factions of the New York democracy undertook yesterday to settle their differences and apportion their candidates by lottery. This plan was adopted in selecting assemblymen. but John Kelly opposed its extension to Congressmen. He wanted to select three districts and give the other four to Irving Hall, and his choice was S. S. Cox in the sixth district, Fernando Wood in the ninth district, and Orlando B. Potter in the tenth district. An agreement could not be reached yesterday, and a meeting will be held this afternoon to settle the matter.

The democrats of New Jersey were hardly as successful yesterday in harmonizing upon a state ticket as their brethren were in Connecticut. After a stormy time the nomination of Mr. George C. Ludlow for governor was achieved on the fourth ballot. The New York Herald thinks that Mr. Ludlow may be elected "If all the delegates will carry the same paroxysmal energy into the canvass which they displayed in the convention, but the fact that his nomination partakes of revenge upon Senator Randolph and Gen. McClellan is not a favorable augury of success when it is considered in connection with the acknowledgment of Mr. Abbett, the presiding officer on the occasion, that the opposing candidate is 'the strongest and best man' whom the republicans could have selected." There is so much at stake, however, this presidential year, that any heart-burnings about the gubernatorial nomination will not probably be allowed to endanger the state.

In the opinion of the New York Evening Post, the increase in the number of persons who commit the crime of bigamy is a matter deserving serious consideration, and constitutes one among other reasons for the adoption in the various states of the union of uniform divorce laws. The diversity that now extsts in these laws in the various states affords both temptation to wrong-doing and ready escape from its consequences; and the consequent injury to public morals is undoubtedly great and increasing. There have been reported five or six conspicuous cases of bigamy during the last few days, each one of which is seriously complicated by the offence having been committed in a different state from that of the original

While the report affoat that Senator Blaine took from New York to Maine the sum of $100,000, contributed by business men towards the defeat of the fusionists, may or may not be true, it is quite certain that the democrats in Maine have done all in their power to disgust the business men of the country by their alliance with the flat money men. Should, therefore, the democrats be thoroughly beaten this month in Maine, they will get little sympathy in anancial and business circles. Political parties will learn after awhile that these entangling alliances with disreputable organizations, in order to beat a third adversary, do not pay as a matter of policy, to say nothing of the morality of the thing.

The lower House of the 47th Congress will have 293 members. Twelve states have completed their nominations, of which Maine, Minnesota and Kansas renominate their present representatives. Nineteen states have partly nominated, and seven states have not held conventions. Of the 183 nominations made, 62 take the places of present representatives, being one more than one-third of the sitting members left at home. One hundred and ten nominations

The season has come to a pretty abrupt close at Cape May, Long Branch and all along shore, although the hot weather still continues. At Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and that part of the Jersey coast, the season has been an exceptionally good one, but at Cape May it has been quite the reverse. The Cape May correspondence of THE STAR to-day explains why "this
